The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 11-15 and 19-23 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over JP 56-109888. No distinction is seen between the fertilizer composition recited in claims 1-4, 11-15 and 19-23, and that disclosed by JP 56-109888. JP 56-109888 discloses a fertilizer comprising urea coated with sulfur. (See the English Abstract.) It would be expected that the fertilizer composition disclosed by JP 56-109888 would have the same properties as the fertilizer recited in claims 1-4, 11-15 and 19-23, since JP 56-109888 discloses that peeling and cracking does not occur in the sulfur coat, and applicant's specification discloses on page 5, lines 5-7 that the product is without any ready tendency to shed the coating.

Claims 5-10, 16-18, 24-37, 39-41 and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 56-109888 as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Patra et al or Hawkins or Omilinsky et al. It would be further obvious from Patra et al or Hawkins or Omilinsky et al to include a urease or nitrification inhibitor with the sulfur-coated urea of JP 56-109888, since Patra et al, Hawkins and Omilinsky et al all establish the conventionality of such inhibitors.

Claims 9, 18, 25, 29-35, 40 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Young in view of Patra et al or Hawkins or Omilinsky et al for the reasons given in the last Office Action. Applicant's argument, that Young nowhere discloses the wet ground sulfur as claimed, is not convincing, since claims 9, 18, 25, 29-35, 40 and 41 do not require that the sulfur be wet ground.

Claims 1-4, 11-15 and 19-23 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Shirley, Jr. et al (newly cited). No distinction is seen between the fertilizer composition recited in claims 1-4, 11-15 and 19-23, and that disclosed by Shirley, Jr. et al. Shirley Jr. et al disclose sulfur-coated urea granules (col. 1, line 42 to col. 2, line 27.) It would be expected that the fertilizer composition disclosed by Shirley, Jr. et al would have the same properties as the fertilizer recited in claims 1-4, 11-15 and 19-23, since Shirley, Jr. et al disclose at col. 2, lines 17-27 that the coated granules have a reduced tendency to break or crack during storage and normal handling, and applicant's specification discloses on page 5, lines 5-7 that the product is without any ready tendency to shed the coating.

Claims 9, 18, 25, 29-35, 40 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shirley, Jr. '098 (of record) in view of Patra et al or Hawkins or Omilinsky et al. It would be further obvious from Patra et al or Hawkins or Omilinsky et al to include a urease or nitrification inhibitor with the sulfur-coated urea of Shirley,

Jr.'098 , since Patra et al, Hawkins and Omilinsky et al all establish the conventionality of such inhibitors.

Claims 28, 32-37, 39-41 and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims are replete with vague and indefinite terminology. For example, the terms "preferably", "crease inhibitor" and "both at least" render the scope of the claims vague and indefinite. In claims 40 and 41, it is indefinite as to what would constitute a "surround", since "surround" is not a noun. In claims 36 and 37, it is indefinite as to whether "such particulate urea" would necessarily be limited to the particulate urea earlier recited.
